GAME

GROUP LEADER CHALLENGE

What You Need:

Log onto Google and search for the following:

Top 5 Movies this week

Top 5 Songs this week

Top 5 TV shows this week

Top 5 Websites for students

How To Play:

Have all your group leaders, no matter how many, come to the front of the room. (if you have more than 20, you might want to take the first 20). Get the students cheering for their group leader.

In the first round, you will ask the group leaders to write down the Top 5 Movies of this week. Take the top winners who have the most correct. Take at least half to the next round. In the second round you will ask "what are the top TV shows of the week" taking at least half to the next round.

In the third round you will ask the top 5 websites students visit. Take at least 2 to the final round and ask what the top 5 songs of the week are. You can insert your own top 5 lists into this game to make it more interesting and personal to your group. There is flexibility to take as many as you want from round to round ending up with one group leader winning. Create a prize for the winning group.
